

Health benefits

Altered pets have a much lower risk of reproductive cancers and generally live longer lives. Females will not go in heat (eliminating the messiness and anxious behavior associated with a cycle) or experience any complications during birth. Spayed females have less risk of mammary cancer and no risk of uterine infection or cancer. Males are less likely to engage in undesirable behaviors such as urine marking, humping, aggression and roaming to seek out a mate.

Cost benefits

The initial cost of altering your pet is returned in multiples later in life by not having to treat dangerous cancers or care for litters of pets. With subsidized fees at Pets Alive, you cannot afford to NOT have your pet spayed or neutered.

Community benefits

Reducing the number of unwanted litters in our communities lessens the burden on local shelters that are sometimes funded by tax dollars or depend on the community for support. Less unwanted pets means more loving homes for those animals already in search of a forever family. There simply are not enough homes for all of the animals being born.
